

MANAGING ASSETS FOR SECURITY AND HEALTH

The Managing Assets for Security and Health (MASH) program serves older adults with limited income who are at risk for homelessness.

Through a 90-day process, volunteers provide creative case management that includes education, referrals, personalized assistance, and recommendations.

302

PROGRAM IMPACT

Survey and interview data suggest MASH services helped clients:

- improve their living conditions and financial situations
- feel more in control of their financial decisions
- manage their emotions
- feel less alone

“...when you're alone, you just feel yourself talking. But when you get around other people, they fill you full of other ideas, so you can work on them and that just affects your whole outlook...that's what [MASH] did for me. They came in, they helped me, let me talk, let me share things, how I was feeling. And I'm very, very thankful that they were here.”
